Chiropractic Practice-Based Research Networks under construction: September 2015

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Province</th>
<th>Principal Investigator(s)</th>
<th>Area of Interest</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>British Columbia</td>
<td>Dr. Jeffrey Quon</td>
<td>The effects of PBRN activities on chiropractors’ use of multimodal care for low back pain and the effect on patient outcomes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manitoba</td>
<td>Dr. Steven Passmore</td>
<td>Delivery of evidence-informed conservative clinical management for patients referred from a hospital based spine care pathway</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nova Scotia</td>
<td>Dr. Jill Hayden</td>
<td>Research and evidence-informed practice within a Nova Scotian chiropractic PBRN: implementing biopsychosocial assessment for low back pain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Québec</td>
<td>Dr. Mathieu Piché &amp; Dr. André Bussières</td>
<td>Evaluating whether a knowledge translation strategy can increase the use of multimodal care for the management of non-specific neck pain</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ontario (Guelph)</td>
<td>Dr. John Srbely</td>
<td>Barriers and facilitators to uptake of evidence-based practice in a PBRN: an overview illustrated in Whiplash Associated Disorders</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ontario (Kingston)</td>
<td>Dr. Simon French</td>
<td>Queens University Chiropractic PBRN: helping chiropractors and chiropractic academics to work closer together to improve quality of patient care.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Canada-wide study</td>
<td>Dr. Kent Stuber</td>
<td>Assessing patient-centered care in patients with chronic health conditions attending chiropractic practice, using questionnaires, interviews and focus groups.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>